2. LIBRARY PROGRAMS / TOURS / PROMOTIONAL ACTIVITIES

Date	Program	Attendance
3/1/2011	Toddler Storytime: Mo Willems :	22
3/1/2011	Big Kids Storytime: Mo Willems : Evaluation: This age group REALLY gets in to the Mo Willems books! During Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus, they were totally engaged, responding "NO!" when the pigeon asked to drive the bus. After stories, during the craft, I left my big pigeon puppet on the rocking chair for kids to try. It was great to see kids trying it on, saying, "Can I drive the bus?" and then expressing disappointment when other kids said no. I also had some Naked Mole Rat sticker sheets that I sent home with the big kids (I got them as a freebie at ALA).	29
3/1/2011	'Tween Knitting	18
3/2/2011	Wednesday Matinee Storytime	5

3/7/2011	'Tween American Girl Book Discussion and Party: Julie : We created round smiley face/flower nametags, then we discussed the book Meet Julie (an American Girl). Then, kids circulated among five activity stations: tissue paper butterflies, friendship pins, macrame bracelets, chocolate fondue, and idea catchers. During the activities, we listened to music from the 1970's. Evaluation: This program went really well. The kids enjoyed being able to circulate between activities, choosing what they wanted to do. There was time to go to every station, which most kids did. I was glad that the crafts I chose were simple, so I could stay at the fondue station the entire time to help with the messy chocolate (don't worry, we used an electric fondue pot). It was really nice to hear comments as kids left: "That was so fun!" "That was the best library program I've ever been to!" We talked about possibly making this a regular program, meeting every other month to focus on a different girl. I'm hoping to start that in the fall.	23
3/8/2011	Toddler Storytime: Favorites	38

Evaluation: The kids loved karaoke and the Just Dance game this time, but weren't as interested in the sumo sushi wrestling. They were extremely excited about all the free manga and swapping. I did have to talk to 2 boys who were very loud even after being warned & wanted to roughhouse, but everyone seemed delighted to be there. Some wonderful costumes!	16

5. DIRECTOR'S REPORT

March 2011 Library News

Circulation The number of items checkout in March of 2011 was down by -3.4% compared to March of 2010, bringing our year to date circulation in the negative by -5.14%. Taking just the March statistics, the age categories break down as follows: Adult circulation -6%; Young adult -16%; and a slight increase in juvenile of +2.8%. Self checkout machines continue to be popular. Library users checkout, 25,762 last month, which was 38% of our traffic.

Program attendance. Though our total number of events for this year was down from 43 in 2010 to 37 in 2011, we experienced a 5% increase in attendance from 942 to 991. The increase can be attributed to the children and 'tween programs, (725 in 2010 to 841 in 2011). Young Adult readers were offered half as many programs in March of 2011 than in March of 2010 (from 6 to 3) which is likely the reason attendance took a 50% drop from 50 participants in 2010 to 25 in 2011. Middleton Adults were also treated to fewer programs (from 10 in 2011 to 6 in 2010) and showed a decrease in participation from 167 in 2010 to 125 in 2011. These numbers are bit misleading, as we do offer scheduled one-on-one computer sessions and proctoring services to students, which we don't include in our formal program counts. The reason being, they are excluded from the list of applicable services in Wisconsin's state annual report and to the federal government.

Resource sharing. During March of 2011, the number of items loaned to and borrowed from other LINK libraries took a steep decline, with totals of 19,630 and 20,114 respectively. That calculates to a decrease of -6.9% and -7.1% compared to last year, which more closely resembles 2009's activities for the month of March.

Study rooms. Use of study rooms continue to be on high demand. Last month we booked the rooms 455 times and provided study space 669.5 hours, which is an increase of 10% over last year.

Other. All grants reported associated with the origami mural have been completed. I submitted another book review for Unified Newspaper Group for their Your Family magazine publication. Submitted a proposal for the fall WLA conference program on building community through public art projects.

6. LIBRARIANS' REPORTS

☆ Liz Dannenbaum, Head of Adult Services

In addition to some very successful larger programs for adults this month (the musical group Redefined and the morning book discussion), we also offered 9 individual one-on-one technology sessions. Emily and practicum student Sarah Michaelis did a great job and we received a lot of sincere “thank you for this service!” comments.

The display of photography books on the mail level has been very popular and the Serendipity Collection is a wonderful success; thanks to Pamela for “strongly encouraging” the development of Serendipity in spite of my personal wariness.

I enjoyed my afternoon teaching “Adult Reading Interests” at SLIS this month, as well as teaching my online course on book discussions through SLIS.

The staff has gotten several positive comments from the public about the soundproofing panels in the Study Rooms.

☆ Svetha Hetzler, Head of Youth Services

We wrapped up our winter storytimes this month and offered a full week of Spring Break programs which were very well attended. I also had the opportunity to provide outreach services to Meriter Hospital’s Mother-Baby hour.

I participated in quite a few professional development activities, both as a presenter and as an attendee. I attended CCBC’s Choices Day and two webinars. The webinar topics were on services for children with special needs and great new books for younger children. I presented an Indian Folktale class for the UW's Asian Studies Outreach Extension. The attendees were k-12 school teachers and librarians. I also helped sort promotional materials for National Library Week at WLA last week with 4 other YS librarians from SCLS.

We created many booklists this month. Kathy created a "Global Living" booklist to go with our Summer Reading Program. I began compiling booklists for the Middleton-Cross Plains School District's Pre-K program. They have 10 themes and I have created 5. I hope to have the lists completed by the summer. I also created lists for "Fancy Nancy Read-Alikes" and "Princess Picture Books".

Kathy and Sarah have been putting together many book displays including, "Lucky to be Green", "Feathered Friends", "Full Moon", "Spring", and "Basketball".

Kathy is putting together a letter to our volunteers, detailing our summer volunteer opportunities. She will be including Friends' of the Middleton Public Library events.

In collection management, I weeded the picture book collection. Items on the Lost Report were weeded and reordered, if necessary.

I contacted the elementary schools this month to set up school visits. So far, we have two school visits confirmed and I'm waiting to hear back from the others.

I'm looking forward to our spring session of programs, school visits, and summer reading preparations!

 Rebecca Van Dan, Head of Young Adult Services

In March, we interviewed for the Youth Services sub position as Angie Mandersfeld will be leaving in May. We hired Sally Wood, who will start in April. We also spoke with a practicum student who would like to start in late summer/early fall, and we will be meeting with her soon to discuss in more detail. We had four more teens express an interest in volunteering this month and have added them to our waiting list, with the suggestion to try Teen Advisory or booksorting while they wait for a call back. (We currently have all after-school slots filled with 15 teens waiting for a slot to open.) An informational paragraph on teen volunteering was added to the Teen website, for those who desired more detail.

This month, we also practiced with the Koha database to prepare for the catalog change, completed a follow up survey with VOYA as to the changes in our Teen section since our library was featured in their journal, and attended a PAC meeting to discuss integrating certain catalog features with Koha. We attended a strategic planning meeting, assisted 2 library school students with projects, updated our Spanish bookmark of collection guidelines, and worked on booktalks, coordinating visits with teachers, and summer reading program details.

Displays for March: Fun & Happy Reads, Post-Apocalyptic Fiction.

Elizabeth Bauer, Head of Circulation Services

March was a busy, busy month; with a definite, April 17th Koha migration date, there have been lots of work flow meetings, planning for down time, and staff training has gone into high gear. There will be a detailed report, in April, on the adventures of migration to a new operating system!

Patrick Williams, Head of Information Technology

The new RFID “smart” security gates have been installed and placed on the South Central System network. The new system uses a binary security bit on the RFID tag, unlike the old “fuzzy” magnetic sensing gates. There will be no false alarms with this system, and it will report the title of a book that walks out without being checked out. (Please note, as a matter of privacy, the only information on the RFID tag is the barcode of the item. The gates require secure access to the database for the title lookup.)

A wireless range expander has been installed to boost signal strength to patrons working in the upper level with their own walk-in devices. The target was for handheld smartphones and PDAs, which typically have smaller antennas.

A PayPal account has been set up for the Friends of the Library to accept online donations. I will work it out for full online membership additions and renewals for the various membership levels for the Friends.

 Sarah Hartman, Technical Services Librarian

We have started RFID tagging the AV collections, starting with DVDs and Blu-rays. Many thanks to all of the pages who are working extra hours to help us out with the project! After existing collections are tagged, we will begin tagging all new AV materials and trapping untagged AV items at check-in. Following what other SCLS libraries have done, we are tagging the paper inserts in the cases, not the discs themselves. With this method, there will be less signal interference with the metallic discs and there is less chance of patrons' equipment being damaged due to a label adding extra thickness to the disc.

I attended the March 9 meeting of the SCLS Collection Maintenance Subcommittee, of which I am very pleased to be a member so that I can have direct input into the way materials are cataloged, displayed, and searched in LINKcat. We are currently reviewing all system policies in the Linking Manual.

Linking and processing duties for our very successful Serendipity Collection of high-demand books have been turned over to Vijaya Raman, TS Page II. We had just under 200 books in the collection as of the end of March, and we will be adding teen and children's books in upcoming months.

 Amanda Struckmeyer, Youth Services Librarian

This month, we continued to develop and streamline our juvenile fiction and paperback collections. Tween programming continued, with a very successful American Girl book club and party, among other events. Summer programs have been developed, and our brochures should be available for patrons beginning in mid-to-late April.

We interviewed and hired a new Youth Services substitute, and we are in the process of hiring summer Youth Services pages. I continue to supervise a teen volunteer.

My newspaper column, "Booking It," was written and submitted to the Middleton Times Tribune. I continued to serve as the staff liaison to the newspaper. I also continued my work as the treasurer for the board of the Friends of the Cooperative Children's Book Center.

Along with Pamela Westby, I submitted a proposal for a WLA program on the development of 'tween library programs. I have been enjoying mentoring a new librarian in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, over the telephone. On the national level this month, I continued my work as a Priority Group Consultant for ALA's youth division (ALSC).

CONGRATULATIONS to Amanda Struckmeyer and Svetha Hetzler for the nice book review in the March/April issue of American Libraries on their book: DIY Programming and Book Displays: how to stretch your programming without stretching your budget or staff!

7. SOUTH CENTRAL LIBRARY SYSTEM

South Central Library System
Helping Libraries Serve the Public

Koha migration is set for Monday, April 18th. There are a number of functions in every module that are yet to be resolved, so complete training is fractured. The library staff continues to identify issues, which the vendor's development team addresses, but often results in new issues.
